Bryan Accepts Turkey's Statement, Saying Helmsman Did Not Do Right.

NAVAL OFFICER IS SILENT

Capt. Decker Reported Differently and He Was in Launch When Ottoman Shots Were Fired.

The Turkish government lays blame or the firing on the launch of the armored cruiser Tennessee at Smyrna last week upon the helmaman of the launch, who is charged with "indifference," according o a dispatch received from Ambassador Morgenthau. Since Secretary Bryan an-nounced that this dispatch "closed the incident," and indicated that the Turkish explanation was quite acceptable, an unamed bluejacket of the navy will carry he burden of blame for the affair. It appeared that this account of the fair, which differed from Capt. Decker's own account of the incident, was never laid before Secretary of the Navy Daniels by Secretary Bryan. Consequently, when shown the State Department's communication yesterday afternoon, Mr. Daniels had nothing to say.

Resent Turkish Insinuation

It is known, however, that at the Navy Department there is much resentment but the Turkish statement should have een accepted offhand, without even a eference to the Navy Department for erification of details wherein it differ-were first fired and that the sentinel, after waiting two minutes, was obliged to fire the third shot in another direction from that of the launch, which latter shot was merely to prevent the helmsman of the launch from holding his course, which would lead directly on to the mines at the entrance of the port and to rescue him from a very certain danger.

Express Much Regret.

"The commander of Smyrna expresses very great regret that such an obliga-tion was presented to the sentinel of the port, which he attributes to the indiffer-grades in the ministry, fosters human ence of the helmsman of the launch."

According to the best understanding of the Smyrna incident, Capt. Decker was editor of the Golden Age, of Atlanta, in himself in the launch and, therefore, responsible for all its movements. Opinion here is that the Tennessee's Mr. Upshaw, known as the "Georgia launch was in no danger of mines, as it is the custom to place mines from fifteen to twenty feet below the surface of the water. The navy launches day only from three to four feet of water. Furthermore, it is declared also the blame, be called nastor unless he nosesses the

Pavlowa's Art Flawless In Dance Carnival Yesterday

By JULIA CHANDLER MANZ.

If ever you have stood in the midst of an old orchard when the year's at the spring and watched the delicate apple blossoms shed their petals until they drifted down softly like a pink cloud lowered, perfuming the air as they drifted, you have breathed something of that atmosphere of youth, with its irrepressible joy, which Mile. Anna Pavlowa managed to convey once more to a Washington audience yesierday afternoon through the medium of the dance.

In coming into the world, the premiere danseuse of the kingdom of the Car must have caught the soul of spring with with the poetry of its drifting apple blossoms and its lyric of love, weaving them into the fiber of her being in such a way that in her art they dominate all other qualities.

them into the fiber of her being in such a way that in her art they dominate all other qualities.

Never was this spirit of the golden springtime more in evidence than in the program in which Max Rabinoff presented his incomparable star and her assisting ballet yesterday at the National Theater under the local management of Mrs. Wilson-Greene, the first part of which consisted of the ballet in one act, entitled "Puppen-Fee" ("The Fairy Doll"), unfolding the fanciful story of a toymaker and his dolls. To the toymaker's shop came an Englishman, his wife, and daughter, among other prospective customers. The shopkeeper exhibits his finest wares, but the wealthy Britisher will not buy until the toymaker finally admits that he has just one more doll, but warns the would-be purchaser that she is so unusual a doll as to make it necessary for its owner to
